

PRESENTED BY:

Nashville
Symphony

COMING TO NASHVILLE—SPRING 2018

The Violins of Hope are a collection of instruments played by musicians interned in concentration camps during The Holocaust. The Nashville Symphony is bringing these instruments to Nashville to facilitate a citywide dialogue about music, art, social justice and free expression.

The sound, presence and stories of these instruments will drive the creation of new music, visual art, live performances, public conversation and interfaith dialogue, reading and educational activities throughout Middle Tennessee.

EXHIBITS • PERFORMANCES LECTURES • EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

Author event and book signing at Southern Festival of Books, October 2017

Instrument exhibit at Nashville Public Library

Nashville Symphony performances, including the world premiere of Jonathan Leshnoff's Symphony No. 4

Nashville Ballet performances of Light / The Holocaust and Humanity Project

Live performance by visual artist Nick Cave, presented by Frist Center for the Visual Arts

Chamber music concerts around the city

Lectures and town hall dialogues

Adult and student education programs

Book clubs, author events and reading activities

Plus much more to be announced

COMMUNITY PARTNERS:

Jewish Federation & Jewish Foundation of Nashville and Middle Tennessee • Nashville Public Library • Nashville Ballet
Vanderbilt University Chancellor's Lecture Series • Blair School of Music at Vanderbilt • Belcourt Theatre • Parnassus Books
Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at Vanderbilt • Congregation Micah • Tennessee Holocaust Commission • Humanities Tennessee
Frist Center for the Visual Arts Nashville Convention & Visitors Corp. • Nashville Children's Theatre • Barnes and Noble at Vanderbilt
Nashville Film Festival • Oz Arts Nashville • Nashville Repertory Theatre • Tennessee Arts Commission • Lipscomb University
Fisk University and the Fisk Jubilee Singers • Tennessee State Museum • National Museum of African American Music
Celebrate Nashville Cultural Festival • Npt • Christ Church Cathedral • Intersection • Nashville Jewish Film Festival

WE INVITE YOU TO BE A PART OF THIS IMPORTANT INITIATIVE.
FOR INFORMATION ON HOW TO PARTNER, DONATE OR VOLUNTEER,
PLEASE CONTACT KAREN FAIRBEND AT KFAIRBEND@NASHVILLESYMPHONY.ORG.